

Pauling's First Rule

---

- * A coordination polyhedron of anions is formed about each cation, the cation-anion distance equaling the sum of their characteristic packing radii and their radius ratio determining both the nature of the coordination polyhedron and therefore the coordination number of the cation